

MEET RITTER CENTER'S NEW PROVIDER, ALEC BRADBURY

My name is Alec Bradbury, and I was born and raised in Oakland, California. I attended college at UC Davis (Go Aggies!) where I got my BS in Neurobiology, Physiology, and Behavior. I later attended Vanderbilt University's Nursing School in Nashville, Tennessee before graduating with an MSN in Family Practice last August. I have a background in physical therapy and have been working as a registered nurse in various settings over the past year while also completing FNP student clinical stints in internal medicine and FQHC family health clinics.

When I'm not reviewing UpToDate, I am an avid sports fan especially for the Warriors, A's, and Buffalo Bills (my mom is from upstate New York and yes, I'm still getting over that loss). I love listening to all kinds of music and attending concerts and music festivals. I also enjoy photography, exercising, hiking, reading, traveling, and socializing with familiar faces and new ones alike. Finally, I'm 22 for 22 on Wordle at the time of writing this and usually get it in about 3 guesses.
